

Whiskey Dregs

Fine Pint Rock

Brewed in Florida

Described as “A Freight Train of Celtic sound”, Tampa area's Whiskey Dregs blends traditional Irish songs with rock, punk, pop and whatever other styles they feel like into a distinct sound that gets your feet stomping and your head banging.

Formed in 2016, Whiskey Dregs follows in the footsteps of bands like Flogging Molly, Dropkick Murphy's, Seven Nations and Enter the Haggis. Mostly known for their live shows, audiences experience a blending of traditional Celtic music, rock and roll, shredded bow hair, splashing water, dirty toasts, crunching guitar, trash can drums and of course, men in kilts.

In addition to playing local venues such as Jannus Live, 3 Daughters Brewing, Flanagan's, The Celtic Ray and Skipper's Smokehouse, Whiskey Dregs will often share the stage with some of Celtic Rock's most notable bands such as Enter the Haggis, Seven Nations, Off Kilter, Screaming Orphans, The Fighting Jamesons and others.

There is nothing like a Whiskey Dregs show.
